

DEMOCRATS SEEK SUFFRAGE VOTES

Get Mrs. Pennybacker to Campaign in Behalf of Wilson.

SITUATION HERE WORRIES PARTY

McCormick to Go to White House for Conference with President.

The Democrats are aware to the value of the 4,000,000 suffrage votes to be cast in the coming election. This was apparent yesterday when Vance McCormick, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, called into conference at Democratic headquarters Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker, formerly president of the Federation of Women's Clubs.

It was asserted on good authority that McCormick had made an effort to induce Mrs. J. Horden Harriman to campaign in behalf of President Wilson. Failing to obtain Mrs. Harriman's support, McCormick asked Mrs. Pennybacker to work among the women in every state where they have the vote and where organizations in the interest of Wilson have been effected.

Mrs. Pennybacker is known to be an enthusiastic supporter of Wilson, but neither she nor the Democratic Chairwoman would state just what her activities would consist of, other than to say that Mrs. Pennybacker's efforts will be directed in behalf of the Democratic party.

Claims Missouri for Wilson.

James T. Lloyd, Representative from Missouri, called on Chairman McCormick yesterday and told him that everywhere he had been indications showed that Wilson was gaining ground. He predicted Wilson would carry Missouri, and said the President was stronger than generally supposed in the Middle West.

The President says the child labor bill must be passed, said Lloyd, "and there are Senators who insist that if the child labor bill is considered, the immigration bill also must receive attention. I anticipate no serious difficulties. The Administration programme outlined several weeks ago will be carried out."

"There may be some friction between the houses of Congress on the naval, military and revenue measures, but everything will be worked out with reasonable satisfaction to both houses," he added.

Worried by State Situation.

As a result of a talk with Edwin S. McCormick, Democratic chairman, McCormick will go to Washington tomorrow for a conference with President Wilson. New York is giving the Democrats considerable worry.

As the result of a policy of ignoring New York Democratic organizations in patronage and other political blunders, Chairman Harris informed McCormick, the situation here would require the most delicate handling.

Although the New York Progressives might possibly get together with the Democrats on a candidate for Governor, McCormick was told that they were solid for Wilson.

LAW AND 4 WIDOWS SEEK WOOING GERMAN

His War Stories Said to Have Netted $5,000.

Four widows in New York City, with the help of District Attorney O'Leary of Queens, are searching for a handsome subject of the Kaiser who won their sympathies, hearts and savings by stories of how his wife had died of a broken heart after his four sons had been killed in the German army.

Upon the four widows, it is alleged, the engaging "widow" managed to levy a tribute aggregating $5,000 after he had given promises of marriage. He seemed to have a predilection for widows owning their own homes—homes that could be mortgaged for cash after the wedding arrangements had been made.

Not the slightest clue to the man's identity has yet been found by the District Attorney. One of his lodging houses was discovered, and in it were found many suits of clothing as that of the famous wooer, Oliver Osborne, left in his Manhattan boarding house.

Each love affair the man seems to have used an identical method of wooing. He gained an introduction to a widow in moderate circumstances, told her tearfully of his four sons and then proposed. Accepted, he insisted that the widow mortgage her home to feather a new nest. He would in vain disappear as soon as the money gained from the mortgage had been placed in his hands for safe keeping.

District Attorney O'Leary refuses to divulge the names of the four widows.

DYERS PROTEST TAXES PROVIDED IN NEW BILL

Charge Discrimination in Plan to Exempt Alizarin.

A protest against the exemption from special duties of certain classes of dyes in House bill 16,763 was made public yesterday by William R. Corwin, secretary of the joint conference of organizations affected by the dye tariff shortage.

The bill, after providing for a special duty of 5 cents a pound on a group of finished colors and dyes to build up dye industry in the United States, exempted "natural and synthetic alizarin, carbazone and carboxal and natural and synthetic indigo and all indigoids, whether or not obtained from indigo."

It is held by the protesting organizations that if these dyes are exempted from duty, they will be able to compete with the more costly dyes.

"No one would be tempted to invest money in making aniline colors," the statement says, "so long as he could be tempted to competition by another group or class of colors paying a much lower duty."

President on Week-End Cruise.

Washington, July 28.—President and Mrs. Wilson left Washington late afternoon for a week-end cruise on the naval yacht Mayflower down Chesapeake Bay.

HARRIMAN IN AUTO RESCUE

Helps Extricate Chauffeur Pinned Under Car and Mortally Hurt.

Oliver Harriman helped extricate Ernest Rowley, a chauffeur, yesterday from beneath a car which had skidded in front of the Harriman estate, at Purchase, N. Y.

Rowley, who was chauffeur for R. W. Strauss, of Purchase, was returning from White Plains with Charles Stiver, another chauffeur.

Skidding at a turn opposite the Harriman estate, the car crashed through a fence and overturned against a stone wall, pinning Rowley beneath it. Robert Howe, of White Plains, who was close behind in his automobile, Mr. Harriman and John Sheehan, Mr. Harriman's chauffeur, tried to get the car and get Rowley out. He died of his wounds. Stiver escaped with bruises.

HIDES UNTIL WEDDING DAY

Girl Can't Get Parents' Consent—'Phones Her Plans.

Somewhere in Brooklyn Miss Marguerite Schilling, twenty-one and in love, is hiding from her parents. Sometime tomorrow she will marry the man she loves, Thomas Hayes.

Miss Schilling fled from her home, 286 Twelfth Street, Brooklyn, last Sunday, when she discovered that her parents wanted to prevent her wedding. From her hiding place the daughter called her parents on the telephone Wednesday, telling them that she was to be married next Sunday at the Holy Family church. She asked them to attend. A deaf ear listened to her plea. So Marguerite did not tell her parents the hour of the wedding ceremony.

BOYS CAPTURE SUFFRAGE CANDY

Small Army Swoops Down on Auto Loaded with Sweets for Commuters.

Three or four dozen small boys of Manhattan, who yesterday afternoon swarmed the suffrage arguments intended for the commuters of the whole city, affirm that women should have the vote, every time.

About 2 p. m. an automobile piled to its hood with boxes of suffrage candy, intended as gifts to the commuters of New York from the Woman's Suffrage party, of 48 West Thirty-fourth Street, drew up at the curb outside the Grand Central Station, in Forty-second Street.

There was enough candy to last all afternoon, one box to one commuter. The shrewdest way to a man's brain is sometimes through his stomach, the suffragists believe.

"Ain't kids in on this?" A small newsboy asked the question, and received a reply in the negative. He looked again at the candy. Then he passed it on to his fellow.

"They fellows! It's candy, and they're giving it away!" His piper call was answered by an army of small boys of all ages and sizes, who swarmed to the candy.

"This candy is for the commuters," said Mrs. John M. Watkins, in charge of the candy distribution.

"Well, can't kids commute?" asked one.

Then they closed in about the candy car. With one concerted swoop they were upon the suffrage sweets, blocked by on foot and on horseback. Traffic was held up, and when it arrived at the candy was gone.

"Rah for suffrage!" shouted the boys as they darted away.

SOLDIER WEDS NURSE WHO SAVED HIS LIFE

Pound of Shrapnel Taken from His Wounds on Ship.

Lieutenant J. A. Alston, of the 60th British Rifles, arrived yesterday on the Adriatic, accompanied by his young bride, Lieutenant Alston was wounded during an infantry charge by exploding shrapnel, and was left on the battlefield for dead. After many hours he was picked up and taken to a field hospital. He survived and was sent to London, where his fiancée, Miss Lucie Carter, met him on his return.

Two days before the Adriatic sailed Lieutenant Alston received a three months' furlough, permitting him to marry and bring his bride to London. During the voyage nearly a pound of jagged pieces of shrapnel were removed from his arm and chest by Dr. G. C. Fleming, the ship's surgeon.

The engaging "widow" managed to levy a tribute aggregating $5,000 after he had given promises of marriage. He seemed to have a predilection for widows owning their own homes—homes that could be mortgaged for cash after the wedding arrangements had been made.

Not the slightest clue to the man's identity has yet been found by the District Attorney. One of his lodging houses was discovered, and in it were found many suits of clothing as that of the famous wooer, Oliver Osborne, left in his Manhattan boarding house.

Each love affair the man seems to have used an identical method of wooing. He gained an introduction to a widow in moderate circumstances, told her tearfully of his four sons and then proposed. Accepted, he insisted that the widow mortgage her home to feather a new nest. He would in vain disappear as soon as the money gained from the mortgage had been placed in his hands for safe keeping.

District Attorney O'Leary refuses to divulge the names of the four widows.

"The sum of $5,000 is required for the summer programme, of which $1,250 has been subscribed. All those who wish the value of this work to be as a community effort it brings to the thousands who take part in it are urged to contribute. W. K. Brice, 60 Wall Street, is the treasurer."

Would-Be Suicide Is Revived by Stomach Pump.

"Where can I find a train that will take me to heaven?" inquired Samuel Piazzi, of 30 Monteth Street, of Lieutenant Charles Nicholas, of the Clymer Street police station, Brooklyn, yesterday.

The lieutenant decided the observation ward of the Kings County Hospital was the best place for Piazzi, and he took him to the hospital. In front of the station he took a bottle from his pocket and drank the contents. The lieutenant caught him as he fell groaning to the ground. A stomach pump at Eastern District Hospital revived him.

SCHEME TO KILL CHILD LABOR BILL

Southern Senators Hope to Tie It Up with Immigration Measure.

NEED REPUBLICAN HELP TO SUCCEED

Believe Wilson Would Veto Act if the Projects Were Coupled.

Washington, July 28.—Southern Senators who want to kill the child labor bill, or, at least, to embarrass the President for forcing the issue, began a poll to-day to determine if they could put through the proposal of Senator Borah to tie together the child labor and immigration bills and force the President to sign or veto both.

As already told in The Tribune, Senator Borah has proposed the immigration bill as reported from the Senate committee, an amendment to the child labor bill, and he intends to force a vote on it. Southern Senators have begun a count of noses to determine whether such a proposition can be put through.

Uncertain About Immigration.
